

BUSINESS & HUMAN RIGHTS MOOT COURT COMPETITION - II EDITION

Invite

The Network for International Law Students (NILS) is an international, independent, non-political, non-profit organisation, run by and for law students. In February 2018, NILS conducted a one of its kind moot court competition on the fast developing field of Business and Human Rights. This moot, which is the world's first and only competition in this field, aimed to make students aware about this developing area of law and understand the core issues guiding it. The moot problem was drafted as a case study revolving around issues of business and human rights.

Due to its immense popularity and success, NILS is proud to unveil the 2nd edition of the NILS BHR Moot Court Competition, and we would like to invite your University to be a part of this Competition.

The current moot problem deal with the different difficulties that might come up when a mining project is undertaken in a forested area. It has issues ranging from environmental effects of mining, labour law, legalities of impact assessments, contract law (through breach and subsequent damages), trust agreement and operation of security forces under international standards. All these issues will be looked under the wider backdrop of human rights issues that are intrinsically involved.

Furthermore, to expose students to the intricacies of alternative dispute resolution, the problem will be arbitrated in an International Arbitration Court.

Through this moot problem, NILS hopes to shine a light on an important and upcoming field in law, i.e. Business and Human Rights Arbitration.

We hope to see your participation in this enriching event!
